AS BAD AS WAR

More than 4,000 Americans were killed in automobile accidents in November and while final figures for 1941 are not yet available, it is probable that an all-time record has been established for traffic deaths.

During the first eleven months of 1941, 35,690 persons were killed in traffic accidents. This is a terrific price to pay for speeding, liquor drinking, love-making and whatever else causes the deaths of so many Americans.

The entire nation was shocked by the death of less than 3,000 persons when the Japanese treacherously attacked Pearl Harbor and yet every month, more than 3,000 people, including women and children, are horribly injured, often suffering agonies, until death mercifully releases them.

It is time for Americans, which means the readers of this article in The Echo, to determine to do something to stop traffic deaths. Every individual who drives an automobile can make it a point of honor to observe traffic regulations and a matter of spiritual growth to practice courtesy on the highways.

WE HAVE NOT YET BEGUN TO BUY

PAUL Jones, in his famous fight with the Serapis, startled the enemy commander by announcing from the raked deck of his half-sinking Bon Homme Richard that he had not yet begun to fight.

The Defense Bond drive is in no sinking condition, but it is nevertheless time for the American people to announce that they are ready to begin buying. In December, despite the stimulus of the attack on Hawaii and the Philippines, sales of Defense Bonds and Stamps were just over a half-billion dollars. We are in for a 50-billion-dollar war budget. Half of that, at least, ought to be put up by citizens in the form of bond and stamp purchases. That means a half-billion in a week, not a month.

Do your share. In the coming year let no week, no month, pass without buying Defense Bonds and Stamps. It is the least one can do who is not with the fighting forces.

BRUSH UP ON GEOGRAPHY

WAR stimulates the study of geography. Quite a few of us adults, when we were in school, were able to rattle off the location and capital cities of many places whose locations and capitals are somewhat hazy in our memories now. We never did know much about all the small islands. Now, to follow the course of the war, we have to study maps, and we learn of the existence of places which, so far as our knowledge went, had no existence at all until the hostilities broke out.

It won't do us any harm to brush up on our geography, says the Jackson Daily News.

As for the school children, they have to study it anyhow. They did not have to wait for war. It's one of the horrors of peace to them, or to many of them. Perhaps the most recent methods of teaching have removed some of the horrors and made the subject more attractive to young Americans.

MORE SCRAP FOR JAPAN

THE United States, having sent thousands and thousands of tons of scrap steel to Japan, now finds there is a shortage for our own needs.

Well, why not wreck all over-age buildings, especially those condemned on sanitary grounds, the tax delinquents, and those used to house un-Americans are illegal organizations? There should be plenty of scrap in these buildings—and the razing of the structures would help to brighten up dingy and over-crowded areas in our big cities.

Of course, a lot of this scrap would be exported to Japan. But this time it would be better wrapped up.

Hard work, mixed with some intelligence, usually reaps a reward.

American production figures in 1942 will determine how successful the Japanese were at Pearl Harbor.

Advertising in The Sea Coast Echo is worth all it costs. It produces results for business men who mix intelligence sales effort with printer's ink.

With exceptional low tides recently the large amount of rain water which recently filled the streams hereabouts will be carried away and fishing will again come into its own.

Battleships require protection from air attacks just like they require protection from submarine attacks, but so long as the world's freight moves upon the waters of the world the nations that control the seven seas will control the earth.

The people of Hancock County will cooperate as usual with plans for the President's Birthday Ball; the funds from which will be used partly for the Warm Springs Foundation and partly to aid crippled children in our own midst.

The United States, which was for all-out peace before the Japanese attack upon Hawaii, is now for all-out warfare and will not be satisfied by anything less than the complete overthrow of the militaristic aggressors.

WHIPPING THE U-BOATS

WHEN the war began in Europe, the experts discounted Germany's submarine campaign against Great Britain, largely upon the experience of the first World War during which the convoy system was perfected.

Increased losses, however, emphasized the necessity of dealing with the peril. Naval experts understood that its gravity was due to the lack of patrol vessels and believed that, in time, as new destroyers and patrol ships could be constructed, the submarine menace would be conquered.

It might not be out of place to call attention to the plight of the British Navy when the war began. Due to the disarmament folly, the British fleet was in no condition to keep open the Atlantic lanes and to preserve the Mediterranean life-line. Consequently, British merchant shipping had to take a beating.

It is comforting to report, however, upon what seems to be competent authority, that tanks, guns and planes are arriving at British ports in "phenomenal volume" and that the battle of the Atlantic, although not in the headlines, is being won.

For more than three months, reports Roscoe Drummond, Washington correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, the Axis submarines "have been scurrying for safer waters and leaving Great Britain and America in unquestioned mastery" of the North Atlantic.

Mr. Drummond reported last week that the unified Anglo-American naval operations in the North Atlantic, using a convoy technique developed by the U. S. Navy, has been so successful that only one Allied merchant ship has been sunk since September 19th, which was sixteen days after the "shoot-on-sight" orders to the American Navy and that for more than three months there has been no loss of commercial shipping.

Readers should not confuse the North Atlantic with the route past Gibraltar. It was on this route that the British suffered a serious attack upon a convoy, news of which was recently released. Even the combined U-boat and airplane offensive against the 30-ship convoy, referred to by London, however, was beaten off with the loss of only two ships.

EAT THE RIGHT FOODS

THIS war, like the last one, brought to the attention of the American people the fact that we are undernourished. Not eating the right kind of food has been responsible for a large per cent of the selectees who have been disqualified from military service.

Realizing the importance of keeping the Americans strong, the Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services has begun a nutrition campaign. The first poster issued in this campaign listed seven foods that should be eaten every day to enable the average man, woman and child to keep in good health.

- (1) Milk—at least a pint for everyone, more for children—or cheese, or evaporated or dried milk.
- (2) Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit or raw cabbage—at least one of these.
- (3) Vegetables—green, leavy and yellow—one big helping—some raw, some cooked.
- (4) Potatoes and Apples—and other vegetables and fruit.
- (5) Lean Meat, Poultry or Fish—or sometimes dried beans or peas.
- (6) Eggs—at least 3 or 4 a week, cooked any way you choose or in 'made' dishes.
- (7) Bread and cereal—whole grain products or enriched bread and flour.

Every housewife in Hancock county should study the above list, which is based on the research findings of the government, industry, and educational institutions, in order that she may be able to serve meals with the needed vitamins. The health of our nation depends upon the housewives of our nation.

THREE MEN WERE WISE

IT might be a good idea for the average American to realize that the entire nation was caught napping, along with the Army and Navy, at Pearl Harbor. While a great deal was done during 1941 to convert industry to a war-production basis, the "business-as-usual" philosophy was subscribed to by a great majority of our people.

In this connection, however, it is advisable to call attention to at least three Americans who seemed to be alert to the needs:

The first is Leon Henderson, Price Administrator, who did his best to cut down the output of new automobiles in the interest of arms production.

The second is Walter Reuther, a CIO labor leader in the Detroit area, who proposed that the auto plants be converted to arms manufacturing.

The third, we think, it should be admitted in fairness, was President Roosevelt, who repeatedly warned the people of this country that the world was smaller, and that modern warfare could come to the United States.

It should not be overlooked that Mr. Henderson was denounced as a radical by conservative business, financial and industrial interests of the nation, that Mr. Reuther's plan was summarily dismissed by the bigwigs of industry and that the President was constantly berated as a "war-monger."

ISOLATED FROM RUBBER

FOR approximately twenty years, the people of the United States were persistently advised that the nation was big enough to get along without the rest of the world.

The Japanese offensive in the Far East, however, threatening imports of rubber and tin, has caused us, in less than three weeks, to prohibit the sale of automobile and rubber tires.

Meanwhile, we read reports of 15,000,000 rubber seeds planted in Latin America to take care of a possible shortage of expeditions to tap certain uncultivated forests in Brazil. These reports provide no source of optimism, however, because the Latin American trees will require years before producing and, unless we have been misinformed, the quality of rubber to be secured from the wilds of Brazil is inferior.

Give China the arms and equipment for a million soldiers and the Japanese troops in China will begin swimming the Sea of Japan.

THE BATTLE FOR DEMOCRACY.

IT will do us no good to win the battle for democracy on a foreign field if we lost it at home. It will avail us naught if we win the battle for democracy with our factories, our navy, and our air force if we lost it in our schools. For in our schools are thirty million youth who are the tomorrow of America and the hope of democracy.

During World War I, we paid dearly for the neglect of our schools which was so flagrant that thousands of schools were closed for want of teachers. We are starting upon the same path again and much damage is already done. It is time to face the issue and to rally the people behind our schools.

Shall we spend less for schools when Britain in her extreme peril is spending more, when Russia is spending more, when Germany is spending more? Read the account of German education in Gregor Ziemer's Education for Death (Oxford Press) and you will see that Hitler has more faith in his type of education than we have in ours.

Teachers ask no special favors. They have always done their part and always will to serve the Republic. They have worked at low salaries, have done without, have given to Community Chest, USO, Red Cross and a hundred other causes. They have helped needy individual youth with their own money.

But salaries are fixed, and the cost of living is already up more than 10 percent and will go higher. Let's face the fact that—except in cases where boards of education have made adjustments—teachers' salaries in effect have been cut 10 percent from levels often already below a decent standard so that good men and women are leaving the schools in hundreds and thousands for other fields. The loss of men drafted into the army from school staffs would be serious enough, but add to that the loss of good teachers in other ways and it is beyond all reason and commonsense if we really believe in democracy.

Wars today are not fought by soldiers alone. They are fought by whole peoples. They are not fought by one generation alone, but demand sustained strength generation after generation.

We not only neglected the schools during the last war. We neglected them afterward. In 1920 the National Education Association led the way for five-point legislation to remove illiteracy, Americanize aliens, strengthen physical education, improve teacher preparation, and equalize educational opportunity through federal aid. Had that legislation passed, the story of draft rejections today might be different. It did almost pass, but was kept from doing so by the same forces that today clamor for reduced school expenditures.

The longtime battle for democracy is in the schools. It is a battle that every citizen who cares for democracy must help to fight.

Hollywood Echoes.

MICKEY Rooney, the screen's veritable human dynamo, again tops the list (for the third time) as the most potent box-office magnet in the country.

The New York Film Critics, in their annual poll, selected the following as the screen's "bests" for 1941:

Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane," best picture.

John Ford, best director, for his work on "How Green Was My Valley."

Gary Cooper, best actor, for his portrayal of "Sergeant York."

Joan Fontaine, best actress, for her performance in "Suspicion."

It might be interesting to point out that John Ford, director in winning his fourth award as the year's best director, was sharply contested all the way by Orson Welles, for his excellent direction of "Citizen Kane."

Tyrone Power has recently been given a new two-year contract by options extending it to seven years.

So natural is the team of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Charles (William Powell and Myrna Loy) to movie fans that one clerk at a hotel where the couple happened to stop while attending a celebration, offered them the bridal suite. Powell had a difficult time persuading the clerk that each of them were married, and to different persons.

Although Gene Tierney has spent several thousand dollars in the study of voice and enunciation, her roles have been: (1) a half-wit hillbilly in "Tobacco Road," (2) a bandit's moll must help to fight. Teachers will be first to see the tragic need, because they are close to the children daily. Like a father who sees a mother taking care of her children, the teacher can see the gap left when a fellow teacher is taken from the schools. But teachers cannot stem this tide. The most they can do is to call attention to its far reaching import. It is a citizens' battle.

Let all shoulders be put to the wheel. Let boards of education lead in each community. Let parent-teacher associations take up the cause. Let Legion posts, Veterans of Foreign Wars, women's clubs, service clubs, and every civic and patriotic group rally to the call. Let all demand that the schools be kept strong. Let us have committees of citizens, board members, and teachers to study the problem in each community. Let press, forum, pulpit, and radio give the people the facts and then let the people face the facts. Let school budgets be increased to meet the need. Next to food—SCHOOL. That is the slogan if we wish to be strong for war and peace. Let's put children first and take the long look—Joy Elmer Morgan, in Journal of N. E. A.

Waveland Activities

Personal and General News Notes of the Week From Sister City and Vicinity.

House Party

CLAIMING very general attention in Waveland and with many out-of-town guests here for the event was the party given by the Preston Vinets in their attractive beach home, which was a scene of brilliancy on Wednesday evening. Honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. Schoenberger and lovely young daughters Ruth, and Flo, of Jenkins Town, Pennsylvania.

The home was decorated throughout with roses and ferns. In the dining room the table was covered with exquisite satin cloth and in the center was a silver bowl with yellow candles in silver holders. Refreshments were served.

Among those to meet the guests of honor were: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Weidert, Miss Grace Weidert of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pique and daughter, Rosemary, Miss Thelma Collins, Sgt. John de Demoreille of Camp Polk, La.; Miss Ethel Pierer, Mrs. Anna O'Reilly of Hammond, La.; Sgt. J. Patrick of Camp Polk, La.; Miss May Dunn, Lucille Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. F. de Demoreille of Pass Christian, Miss; Mr. Charles Banks, Miss Anna Buree of New Orleans; Sgt. G. Grical, Mr. and Mrs. E. Percy of Mobile and Sally Vinet, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Vinet.

Ex-mayor M. A. Mapp has been appointed as Waveland Town secretary which position he is well fitted to hold.

Forest Ranger

News comes from Slim and Louis Evans. Both brothers are expected home on furlough. Upon returning Slim will fill a position as forest ranger in Gilroy, California.

Mrs. G. M. Evans, mother of Louis and Slim Evans who are now serving their country has offered to donate one pint of blood to the Red Cross.

Elaine Lamar's team of St. Joseph Academy, Bay St. Louis won both games while playing New Roads and Baton Rouge. Is she elated?

Pedestrian Struck and Badly Injured

John Fayard of Waveland was seriously injured about 7 p. m. Sunday when he was struck by an automobile on Gentilly Highway at 10 Mile Post. Mr. Fayard was hit by a car moving out of New Orleans and operated by Justin J. Mason of Biloxi, Miss. At Charity Hospital where he was taken his injuries were diagnosed as possible skull fracture, compound fracture of the left leg and general body contusions.

Malaria Control

News comes that Hon. Mayor Tom Bourgeois has been advised that this project will soon be under way—a great help to the unemployed.

The many friends of Walter Carver are happy to learn he has recovered from his recent illness.

ORTIE THEATER SUN-MONDAY "WINGS OVER HONOLULU"

Anchors Aweigh, My Lads, For "Wings Over Honolulu"

Combining the color of Uncle Sam's naval air forces with the romance of the tropics in a highly dramatic story, Universal's screen play, "Wings Over Honolulu" opens at the Ortie Theater on Sunday and Monday with Wendy Barrie and Ray Milland in the leading roles. Milland is remembered for his work in "Three Smart Girls". The picture was filmed on location with the cooperation of the United States Navy and contains spectacular aviation scenes.

The U. S. S. Ranger, giant naval aircraft carrier, is the locale of a number of the picture's outstanding sequences. Several of her officers and enlisted personnel appear in the production. Notable among them is Capt. P. N. L. Bellinger, commander of the ship.

Capt. Bellinger's debut before the cameras occurred when director H. C. Potter discovered he needed two more Navy officers for a scene being filmed on the flight deck of the Ranger. He persuaded Captain Bellinger and Lieut. Commander Valentine Schaeffer to fill the roles.

In addition to Miss Barrie and Milland, the Hollywood members of the cast of "Wings Over Honolulu" include Kent Taylor, William Gargan, Polly Rowles, Mary Phillips, Samuel Hinds, Margaret McWade, Clara Blandick, Joyce Compton and Louise Beavers.

All the male actors except Taylor portray naval officers in the picture. Miss Barrie is seen as the wife of a young lieutenant played by Milland. Miss Rowles is cast as the daughter of an admiral and the sister of Milland's best friend and brother officer, portrayed by William Gargan.

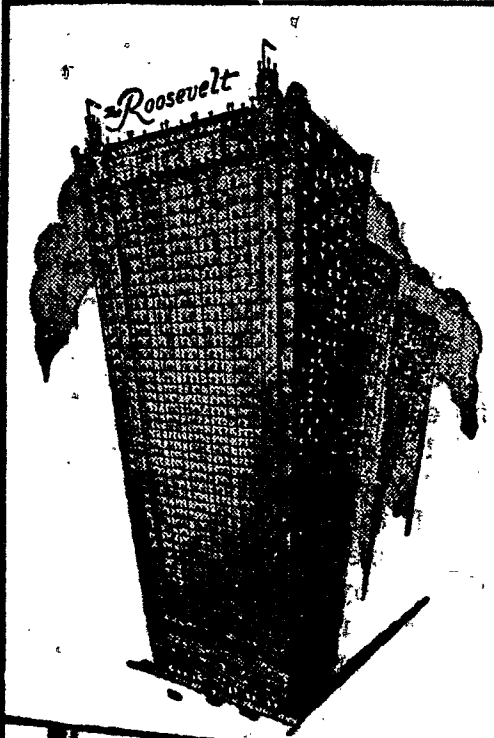

One of the most elaborate Navy pictures ever filmed, "Wings Over Honolulu" was adapted by Isabel Dawn and Boyce DeGraw from a Red Book magazine novel of the same name by Mildred Cram, nationally famous fiction writer.

In addition to the Ranger, Navy hangars, planes and the Naval Transport Chaumont were used by the movie crew. Painstaking care was exercised by the studio and the navy to prevent technical errors in the picture. With Lieutenant Commander Schaeffer acting as liaison officer between the navy and the film company, every detail of the production was checked.

Joseph Valentine, one of Hollywood's ace cameramen, handled the photography in "Wings Over Honolulu."

Lana Turner, of the famous sweater saga, who has proved herself to be an excellent actress, will be teamed with Robert Taylor in "Johnny Eager." It ought to be good to look at, anyway.

Communications facilities play vitally important role in war.

Congressional Sidelights

All-Out Production for All-Out Victory

The highlight of the President's annual state of the Union message was his call for greatly increased production to hasten the ultimate all-out victory. He set the following schedule of production: (1) 60,000 planes, including 45,000 combat units, in 1942, with the rate of increase in production to be continued so as to produce 125,000 planes, including 100,000 combat planes, in 1943; (2) 45,000 tanks in 1942 and 75,000 in 1943; (3) 20,000 anti-aircraft guns in 1942, to be increased to 35,000 in 1943; (4) 8,000,000 headweight tons of merchant ships in 1942 as compared with 1,100,000 in 1941, with a further increase to 10,000,000 slated for 1943.

To carry out the above stupendous program the President submitted the following day his budget message, calling for the biggest war expenditure of any country any time in the history of the world. Under the proposed budget we would spend during fiscal year 1943 fifty billion dollars on arms and five billion six hundred million to carry on the civil functions of the Government. In comparison with this budget we spent a total of twenty-seven billion in 1942, twenty billion six hundred million for defense and six billion four hundred million for other functions of the Government, and in 1941 the total expenditure was twelve billion seven hundred million, six billion of which went to the defense program.

In order to finance the increased expenditure the President recommended that seven billion dollars in additional taxes be levied and that the social security taxes be increased an additional two billion. While the Treasury Department has not yet submitted specific recommendations as to how these additional funds may be raised, many Members of the Ways and Means Committee appear to favor some form of a temporary sales or manufacture tax.

Useless Expenditures

Thus it will be observed that the war is being brought home to the American people in a very realistic way. No one can begrudge the spending of the people's money in winning the war, but those administering the law must see to it that the money is not wasted. Moreover, the time has certainly come when the Congress must curtail the expenditure of the tax payers' money for domestic purposes where ever that can be done. Billions of dollars have been spent annually over a period of the past several years in seeking jobs and the goal of a more abundant life for our people. The jobs are seeking the men now rather than the man seeking the job on the one hand, and on the other the question which must first be settled is saving our lives rather than "boondoggling" away the people's money.

Aircraft Carriers

The United States has only seven aircraft carriers in commission today as compared with fifteen in operation in the Japanese Navy. During recent years Japan has built more aircraft carriers than battleships while we have maintained the old ratio. We did not construct any new carriers between the war years and 1933. Since 1933 we have contracted for seventeen new battleships but only fifteen carriers, of which four have been delivered and the remaining eleven are now under construction.

There is a difference too in the design of the carriers of the two navies. The Japanese carriers are much smaller than ours, accommodating thirty to forty planes in contrast to the eighty to a hundred ours can carry. This difference in design reflects the difference in the task assigned to carriers by the navies. Ours are built for use in conjunction with the main fleet, whereas the Japanese carriers are designed as an offensive force on their own. The effectiveness of the carrier as a striking force was demonstrated in the Pearl Harbor attack, where Japanese carriers without any large naval support launched an estimated one hundred and fifty to three hundred bombers that delivered the stinging blow to our fleet. World War II this added another lesson in the art of war.

Federal Auto Use Tax

Federal auto use stickers are to go on sale on January 26 at post offices and offices of the Collectors of Internal Revenue. The stickers, which cover the use tax for the remainder of the fiscal year, will cost $2.09 for all types and makes of cars. A check will be obtained on whether the tax has been paid by comparing the list of those buying stickers with the car registrations in the various counties.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT is a tasty liquid that most children will take whenever they need a laxative. What's more important, it has the same main ingredient as BLACK-DRAUGHT—the older companion. Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief from the familiar symptoms which show a laxative is needed. Comes in two sizes: 25¢—50¢.

DR. JEKYLL & MR. HYDE AT A & G THEATER SUNDAY-MONDAY

Co-Starring Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner Among Others

One of the greatest motion pictures of 1941, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" with a brilliant cast, starring Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner, supported by Donald Crisp, Ian Hunter, Barton MacLane and C. Aubrey Smith among others, will be seen this Sunday and Monday—two nights only—at the A & G Theater. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, excellently portrayed by Spencer Tracy, wanted excitement . . . yet he dared not admit it to himself. He yearned for secret romance . . . but he hid his desires from his beautiful blonde fiancée, Beatrice, played by Lana Turner. Ivy, played by Ingrid Bergman, had a power over him which he could not explain . . . he tried to resist the lure of her lips . . . but couldn't.

Then his dreams became reality—and thrilling drama flooded his life—drama captured upon the screen in one of the greatest pictures of the year . . . with the star cast of the year.

The screen play is by John Lee Mahin, based on the novel by Robert Louis Stevenson . . . directed by Victor Fleming.

Don't miss this magnificent picture, you will want to see it again.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

NUTS should be included in the meal and not eaten on top of it. Because of their high food value you should often include them in your menus. Store nuts in a cool dry place.

Steamed Carrot Pudding

1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
¼ cup brown sugar
1 egg well beaten
¼ cup uncooked grated potatoes
¼ cup uncooked grated carrots
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift flour measure and sift with soda and salt. Cream butter with sugar. Add egg, potatoes, carrots, raisins and nuts. Mix thoroughly, add dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Pour into a top of a well oiled double boiler. Cover tightly. Steam 2 hours. Serve with hot vanilla or cream sauce or with hard sauce.

Cranberry Salad

1 quart cranberries
2 cups water
1 cup sugar
2½ tablespoons gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
1 cup finely chopped celery
1 cup chopped nuts

Wash and pick over the cranberries and place in a saucepan with 2 cups of water. Cook until the skins of the cranberries begin to pop open. Strain, preserving as much of the pulp as possible. Add the sugar and stir until dissolved. Soak the gelatin in the cold water for 5 minutes and dissolve in the hot cranberry juice. Add the chopped celery and nuts and pour into individual molds. Chill and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Lettuce Rolls

1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup chopped nut meats
¼ cup grated carrots
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Large lettuce leaves

Mix cottage cheese, nut meats, carrots, salt and mayonnaise. Spread thinly on lettuce leaves; roll and serve with toothpicks. Chill to set—cut in ½ inch slices and place several slices on lettuce for each serving.

Prune Bread

1 egg
1 tablespoon shortening
1 cup sugar
½ cup prune juice
1 cup sour milk
2 cups Graham flour
1 cup white flour
2 cups chopped cooked prunes
1 cup chopped nuts
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
6 teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening with sugar and combine with prune juice and sour milk, add white flour sifted with the baking powder, soda and salt. Beat thoroughly. Pour into a greased bread pan and bake 1 hour in an oven 325 degrees.

Haisin Riches

½ cup butter
1½ cups brown sugar
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup raisins
1-2 cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts
2 eggs well beaten

Sift flour, measure and sift. Cut in butter with 2 spatulas. Spread and put evenly in a shallow baking pan. Bake in an oven 425 degrees about 15 minutes. Combine sugar, raisins, salt, baking powder, nuts and 2 tablespoons of flour. Mix thoroughly. Pour over baked portion. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 350 degrees. Cool and spread with orange icing.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT NEW ORLEANS, 88 YEARS OF AGE

Member of Old and Well-known Family—Buried at Bay St. Louis Sunday

Miss Samantha Douglas, eighty-eight-year-old former resident of Bay St. Louis, died on last Saturday in New Orleans where she had lived for a number of years since her departure from here.

Miss Douglas had resided in Bay St. Louis in a residence on Cue street with her nephews, Charles and Bob Maynard, but due to her advanced age had been compelled to leave and resided in New Orleans. She was a member of one Bay St. Louis' old and well known families and her passing removes another of our venerable citizens.

The remains were received in Bay St. Louis on Sunday afternoon via Louisville & Nashville Railroad and were interred in the family plot in Cedar Rest cemetery at five o'clock, services of the Catholic Church having been performed in New Orleans at a funeral service held there.

WASHINGTON NOTES

SAFETY INSPECTIONS
The Government has begun the safety inspection of mines at regular intervals. Not only is the government trying to cut the number of coal mine deaths in the United States, but also as a means of mobilizing all possible natural resources for war. Lost time resulting from mine injuries, exclusive of fatality loss, has deprived this country of over 10,000,000 tons of coal a year.

SALVAGE COMMITTEES
In eleven states and the District of Columbia salvage committees are being organized. The purpose of these State Salvage Committees is to collect from the public waste paper, scrap metals, old rags, and rubber. The eleven states in which organizations are being set up are: Maryland, Connecticut, New York, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, New Jersey and Nebraska.

POWER
The power limitation order which was issued October 30, 1941 to meet a power shortage in the Southeast has been revoked by Donald M. Nelson, Director of Priorities of OPM. The revocation is a result of the heavy winter rains which have filled storage reservoirs which assure continued power supply during the winter months.

AIR PROTECTION
Following a conference between OGD, OPM, and the War Department officials, an announcement has been made that civilians should not buy equipment to provide air raid protection until they are directed to do so by the air raid wardens in the area in which they reside.

EMPLOYMENT
The total civil non-agricultural employment in November was 40,693,000; this is over three million more than were employed exactly one year previous. However, it is true that employment did drop between mid-October and mid-November by 83,000. This decrease, according to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, was due primarily to seasonal recessions.

BUILDING
The cost of building a standard six-room house continued to rise in November, but the rise was the smallest recorded in the past six months, 4 per cent. According to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board the cost of materials went up 7 per cent and labor costs, 0.2 per cent.

Home Agent's Notes For Hancock County

Place orders for chicks early. Those hatched in February, March and early April make best layers and if cared for will lay in September, October and November, the months when eggs are usually high priced.

Late hatched chicks are not profitable usually as chicks do not grow and mature rapidly in hot weather. Hatching chicks under hens is the most expensive method of producing pullets for layers as percentage of deaths is high with the hen-hatched chicks. Clean and disinfected quarters for baby chicks, allowing time for adjusting brooder stove and drying house and litter before they arrive.

Estimate poultry needs for the year before purchasing chicks. The average farm family of five should have 40 hens and pullets for eggs and 100 pounds of meat and 125 chicks obtained in the early spring for meat and flock replacement. This necessitates under ordinary farm conditions 1 1/2 acres of range and green feed, 45 bushels of corn and the purchase of three-fourths ton of mash feed. After estimating family's needs add to the flock such number as may be necessary to give desired surplus for marketing, keeping in mind feed requirements.

In January Plant English Peas.—January plantings in central and southern Mississippi can also include; cabbage plants, carrots, lettuce, mustard, onions, radish, spinach, tender greens and turnips. Tomatoes, pepper, and eggplant seed should be started in seed box or hotbed thru-out the state in late January and early February. It takes 8 to 9 weeks to grow plants from seed to size to be placed in the garden. Two methods of starting plants used to start early plants for Mississippi gardens are:

1. Grow full eight weeks in seed box in house or protected location.
2. Grow seedlings four weeks in seed box in house or protected location and four weeks in coldframe, where plants can be covered with domestic cloth on frosty nights. The seed-box-coldframe arrangement will produce plants, far superior to the seed box method. A cold frame 6 feet by 9 feet will hold approximately 486 tomato plants set 4 inches by 4 inches when transplanted. Sow the seed the latter part of January in a seed box filled with rich garden loam located in a warm, sunny window. Water regularly when needed. When the plants have 4 well developed leaves, transplant them to the fertile, well pulverized soil in coldframe where they may remain until ready to be transplanted to the garden.

STRONG—TRAVIRCA

The marriage of Miss Cleo Travirca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Travirca, and Albert Strong, son of William Strong and the late Mrs. Wm. Strong, was solemnized on last Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at Our Lady of the Gulf Church with the Rev. Father A. J. Fmehl officiating.

Mrs. Strong was prettily attired in a travelling suit of blue wool with blue hat and accessories, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Vera Travirca. After the ceremony, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Ballentine street for members of the family. The young people left later in the evening for a short honeymoon and upon their return, will reside in Mobile where Mr. Strong is employed in defense work.

STORK VISITS FERNANDEZ HOME

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fernandez when he left them a fifth child, a daughter born at Mercy Hospital in New Orleans on Monday, January 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernandez purchased the former Welch dwelling on the beach at Cedar Point several years ago and resided therein since, their children attending St. Joseph Academy, and Mr. Fernandez commuting to and from New Orleans where he is connected with one of the large finance companies, the Fernandez family being a nice addition to Bay St. Louis.

Coach James Glass To Be Inducted Into Services of Country

Coach James Glass, assistant at Bay High School since the beginning of September, is expecting to leave shortly for one of the army camps where he is being inducted into service.

The teaching profession like all others has been hard hit by the many resignations and vacancies created by members of the faculties of the local school either being called into service or leaving for government work.

Shrubs For The Home

The slogan used by The American Nurserymen's Association is a most fitting one: "It's Not A Home Until It's Planted." In this section of the country where many plants can be grown and for the most part very easily, few houses should be without plants of some description.

I will attempt to give the uses of some of the shrubs most common to this particular section and locality, and give the various uses which they may be put to. A well planned foundation planting, in my humble estimation, is most essential to a well planted yard. I mean by foundation planting, those plants grouped or planted individually near the house itself. The most common error here is that most individuals when left to their own choosing put shrubs too close together and also too close to the house itself. Allowance for growth is more often underestimated than not. For most shrubs grouped about a house a space of two and one-half to three feet between plants and about that distance from the house foundation itself is a good rule to follow. There are exceptions to this when very large shrubs are to be planted. It is not wise in any case to let shrubs touch the house itself, the reasons are very obvious. There is something else to keep in mind. Avoid the placing of plants or shrubs in front of windows that will attain a height great enough to interfere with the light. Foundation planting for different type houses vary. Therefore no set rule can be laid down to fit everyone's needs. Large houses do not necessarily need large shrubs in foundation plantings and most small houses are not in the proper setting with large shrubs hiding them.

While there are many beautiful deciduous flowering shrubs, I prefer the evergreen shrubs for the foundation planting, especially in front of the house. Perhaps the most commonly used evergreen in this section for that purpose is the Ligustrum Privet with Pittosporum Tobiana running a close second. Abelia grandifolia is a good subject also but will do better in a heavier soil than ours. These three shrubs are easily kept in bounds by shearing regularly. The Camphor could be used in this respect but is not commonly done so here. To accentuate the corners of the house and to break the straight line that may be formed by the other shrubs, taller growing shrubs with a grouping of smaller plants around their base should be used. For this I suggest such shrubs as Cherry Laurel, Holly, Pyracantha, Camphor, Viburnum, Japanese Yew, Japanese Privet, Camellia, or possibly a tall variety of Arbutus.

Grouped around most any of these, if you wish, some smaller or more dwarf type shrubs, such as, Nandina, Abelia (keep sheared), Hypericum, Spirea, Anthony Waterer, or Pfitzer Juniper. Arbutus have their place, both as tall or as dwarf shrubs, but one must be careful in his or her selection when purchasing from the nursery, and when placing such in the foundation group. Some pleasing effects have been obtained by shearing Arbutus but this has not as a rule proved highly satisfactory. As a screen from the neighbors or as a boundary line hedge such treatment of the Arbutus may bring the desired result. These plants may also be used as a background for other plants or shrubs. If one favors Azaleas and Camellias and has the right location and the proper soil, very showy foundation plantings can be arranged with these plants. There are a number of dwarf and tall, slow fast growing, as well as early, medium and late blooming varieties in both of these particular shrubs. It must be kept in mind that Azaleas prefer an acid soil, and that unless such a soil is maintained these plants will not produce the desired results. Camellias are less exacting in their soil requirements. In choosing Azaleas avoid colors that may clash during the blooming period.

Shrubs used for boundary lines, backdrops for other plants, or just to hide some particular object may include any one or possibly a combination of the following: Arbutus, Camphor, Cherry Laurel, Oleander, Pittosporum, Pyracantha, Abelia, Azella, boxwood, Ligustrum, Japanese Yew. There are those few people that can plant anything anytime of the year with fair success. For best results in planting a few simple rules should be followed by the amateur.

First, Preparing the soil is of prime importance. Do not expect much from a sandy soil alone. Add humus in some form: rotten leaves, stable fertilizer, or peat. Second, Be careful in handling balled plants. Lift the plant by catching hold of the ball of earth, not the stem of the plant. If the plant in any way seems loose, that is if it moves separately from the ball of earth, the chances are that many of its roots are broken. This lessens its chances of living when set out. Third, In planting either sun or partial shade. A few of those that come in this category are Camphor, Oleander, Pittosporum, Pyracantha, Abelia, Azella, boxwood, Ligustrum, Japanese Yew. There are those few people that can plant anything anytime of the year with fair success. For best results in planting a few simple rules should be followed by the amateur.

WEDDING OF INTEREST OF GULFPORT COUPLE

Miss Mary Helen Scott, daughter of Mrs. Annie Warren Scott and John Thomas Hooker, both of Gulfport, were quietly married in that city on Saturday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Clark the former performing the ceremony. A small reception was held later at the home of the bride's mother.

This wedding claims added interest here as Mrs. Scott is the former Miss Annie Warren, niece of Mrs. A. L. Stokoe and the late Mr. Stokoe former residents of this city. Mrs. Scott, following the death of her mother made her home with the Stokoe family and was graduated from Bay High School.

Mrs. Hooker is her eldest daughter, is a graduate of the Gulfport High School and of Perkinson Junior College. Mr. Hooker is the son of Mrs. T. M. Riddick of Long Beach. He is with the United States Government. The marriage is the culmination of a romance of several years standing and their friends of her mother and adopted grandmother are extending to her sincere wishes for a long, happy married life.

ATTEND BANQUET AND DANCE AT BLOXI

Several young ladies, members of the local Military Maids organization were guests at a banquet and dance afterwards on last Saturday evening at the Buena Vista Hotel when the Corboration Branch of Keesler Field entertained for a large group of young ladies from different Coast cities, the affair one of the very lovely events given. Attending were, Misses Adelaide Heitzmann, Elaine Mogabgab, Vivian and Nola Toal, Ethel Mae Boudin, Ida Tudury and Anna Brighenti.

MR. AND MRS. SAM MAYER CELEBRATE FORTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mayer celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary on last Sunday at their home on St. Charles street very quietly with the members of their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer, exemplary citizens coming here several years ago from New Orleans where they had resided in the Garden District for years, invested in Bay St. Louis property and own a large and handsome home on St. Charles street with considerable grounds about it planted in beautiful and rare plants and have in the few years they have resided here endeared themselves to everyone whose pleasure it is to know them.

Coach and Mrs. Frank Leahy of Notre Dame University were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gex last week and were the recipients of a number of courtesies during their visit here.

Mrs. Carlisle Bourgeois of Abbeville is the guest in the home of her niece, Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Jr., this week enjoying a visit here with her son-in-law and daughter, Ensign and Mrs. Robert L. Camors who spent the first days of the week here.

place the plant about the same depth as it formerly grew in the nursery. It is not necessary to remove the burlap from the ball of earth, but merely cut it away from the stem or trunk of the plant and fold into the hole, after the plant has been properly placed. Then fill the remainder of the hole with well prepared soil and level off around the plant. If you should happen to plant some of the small evergreens bare root, be sure to give the roots plenty of room by spreading them out in as near a natural manner as possible. Never crowd the roots of any plant or tree.

There is much discussion as to the best season for planting. I, for one, favor fall planting, and think it has several advantages over spring planting. Fall planted shrubs have the advantage of starting off earlier in the spring, and as a general rule, they grow more the following season, than do shrubs which are planted in the spring. In this section I consider that from the middle of November to about January 15 the best planting period for evergreen shrubs. Deciduous shrubs to be planted any time after they have become dormant in the fall until spring.

If anyone is interested in having a few shrubs not so commonly planted in this section, but some that I believe will grow here without any extra amount of work, why not try one or perhaps several of the following Red-leaved Japanese Barberry, Cotoneaster Francheti, Elaeagnus pungens, Mahonia Beali, and Photinia Glabarra.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

All the personnel, records, and facilities of the State employment agencies have been transferred to the United States Employment Service. This action is expected to cut to a minimum the hoarding of labor in certain states, and will remove difficulties which have interfered with the transferring of workers from one part of the country to another.
